Emotiondinner Invitation Wednesday January 17, 2018

Think of emotions – what comes first to mind? Perhaps joy, anger, fear, surprise, or love. Indeed, these are some of the emotions we are all familiar with. But our repertoire does not end there; it includes many more experiences that can be positive, negative, or a bit of both: Admiration, relief, contempt, anxiety, pride, hope, and many more. In fact, there are more than 60 different human emotions, each with unique qualities and experiences.

What is the taste of love, the texture of sadness, the fragrance of hope, or the colour of anger?

Emotiondinner by Eline Wieland and Pieter Desmet celebrates all manifestations of emotions.

By paying homage to our emotions, the emotion dinner aims to offer an evening of affection, gentleness, and inspiration.

As a guest, you are invited to bring a personal story that connects to an emotion. All guests will share these stories during the dinner. You can bring anything that supports your story, like music, a poem, pictures, and etcetera. Please bring a story that connects to your assigned emotion:

The guests about the Emotiondinner

“An-once-in-a-lifetime experience that brings you not only closer to yourself and what you feel, but also closer to the people you experience it with.”

“I experienced the Emotiondinner as a roller coaster, where every upcoming twist (inspiration) or looping (sadness) was unknown and where I got off from with a deeper connection with my fellow participants and a very special memory to cherish.”

“It was one of the best dinner experiences I’ve ever had - I’ll remember it until the day I die. It connected me to random people through delicious, creative food and what makes us human. I hope anyone who wants to experience humanity takes a bite and shares their life”

“It was a very memorable experience!”

“For me personally, the Emotiondinner was a highlight of the academy; I will remember this dinner experience for the rest of my life”
